

McKay's Week-At-A-Glance (WAAG):

Nov. 24th - Nov. 28th

Hello McKay Families!

We have had a full week at McKay, with various hands-on learning experiences, connections between buddy classes, drama workshops, and volleyball games. Our staff are dedicated and skilled, and work hard to support the learning of McKay students. We also have welcomed our newest staff member- Ms. Anne Alvares, who will be teaching Physical Health Education and Social Emotional Learning to divisions 5-13 during their classroom teacher's prep blocks.

Thank you, families, for your ongoing support of your child's growth and development at home; your partnership with the school is so important for child's success! A normal part of being human is disagreeing, or getting into conflict from time to time. At school, we support students in navigating conflicts in peaceful ways- sharing their feelings and working through disagreements without causing further harm to each other. We focus on restorative justice- acknowledging and taking responsibility for our actions, and repairing any harm that has occurred. As a parent, if your child shares a concern about another student, please bring it to school staff rather than addressing the other child directly. Adult-to-child confrontations can feel intimidating, escalate tensions between families, and often rely on incomplete information. Our staff are here to listen, investigate, and support all students while maintaining confidentiality and a safe, respectful school community. Thank you for helping model positive problem-solving for our children.

On Thursday we will have a "Spirit Day" at school... where students and staff might dress up for a theme for fun, if they choose. This month it is "Twin/Multiples Day"... students can dress up to "twin" with a friend, or dress alike with multiple friends! Or they can wear their McKay shirt and be a multiple with many staff and students that day!

Have a great weekend everyone!

Martyrdom of Guru Tegh Bahdur: Nov. 24

In November 1675, Guru Tegh Bahadur— the ninth Sikh Guru—stood up with courage and compassion to defend the right of all people to practice their own faith freely. At a time when many communities faced pressure to give up their beliefs, he became a symbol of hope, dignity, and unwavering moral strength.

His steadfast commitment to protecting freedom of conscience is honored today at Gurudwara Sis Ganj Sahib and Gurudwara Rakab Ganj Sahib in Delhi.

Guru Tegh Bahadur's legacy continues to inspire people around the world to uphold justice, human rights, and respect for every individual's beliefs.
